HIS LOVING WIFE.

Mike McDonald Explains Her Infatuation for Father Joseph Moysant to a Reporter.

Joseph Moysant of Notre Dame church is the theme of general discussion. The glamour of romance that attaches to a story of elopement, the disparity between the ages of the woman and her paramour, the prostitution of religious influence to subserve an unholy purpose, the abandon ment of family and affluence by Mrs. Mc-Donald, and the manifest intention of the ex-priest to deliberately repay charity with the grossest ingratitude, and ruin a home in furtherance of his base desires, lent an additional interest to the matter.

The news was kept secret as long as possible, but when the story finally leaked out McDonald made the best of it, and, despite the unpleasantness of the situation, he was the unpleasantness of the situation, he was at his office to-day, courteous as ever.

"I suppose," said he to a reporter, "that the peculiar features of the case are almost incomprehensible to the public. To me the matter is easily explained. Mrs. McDonald was not a giddy girl. I am satisfied it was not a case of personal infatuation. Father Moysant was a greasy, illmannered reprobate, little better than a tramp when he came to my house.

"The fact is Mrs. McDonald became little less than a fanatic in matters of religion and the brute who seduced her brought a the less than a fanatic in matters of religion and the brute who seduced her brought a tremendous religious influence to bear upon her. Shortly after he first came to my house aMrs. McDonald had an altar erected at his suggestion, in the room adjoining his. She, poor woman, doubtless thought it was for devotional purposes. I am now satisfied it was a bit of his cun-ning—a blind for me. She was weak men-ning—a blind for me. She was weak men-taily, and he was strong mentally and physically, and under his powerful lever-age, the church, he made her an easy prey. "That, I believe, is the whole story in a nutshell, and though I have no more use for my wife, I have no feeling for her ex-cept one of pity and sorrow. Still it makes my blood boil when I think that the wrong has been going on for two years in my own house and elsewhere, and that certain members of my household knew about it all the

"To think that lecherous brute actually married her a year and a half ago, taking my ring off her hand and putting his on, and making her swear that she would no longer be a wife to me except in name; to think that he lived on me, blessed my food, took my children on his knee and blessed them! Why, she whom I always supplied with all the money she needed, left the Twenty-second street station, when she ran away, in a nun's garb and on a charity

"Do you know where the two now are?"
"Not exactly, but I have reliable information that they are heading for the Pere Hyacinthe crowd in France, where the marriage of priests is advocated. It is not true, as reported, that I have had detectives trying to find my wife. I have not, and do not wish to find her. On the contrary. I have already taken taken steps totrary. I have already taken taken steps to-ward securing a divorce. This step is not taken out of spite or hostility to my wife. It is to protect my property interests and to minimize the shame of my children. Consideration for my home and children is now paramount to consideration for Mrs. McDonald."

McDonald."

Twice during the interview McDonald broke into tears. Two months or so ago his little boy was sick and he said Mrs McDonald nursed him with the greatest devotion. It is facts like these that go to convince McDonald that his wife was rather the victing than the singer. rather the victim than the sinner. A telegram was received last night from Tiffin, O., whither Mrs. McDonald was supposed to have gone when she left home on July 24th. The message states that she was in Tiffin some weeks ago and bade her mother good by and seemed to be meditating flight at that time. She was only 44 years old instead of 50, as stated last night, and Moysant is 27.

Sufferers from indigestion, loss of appetite, liver or kidney complaints, rheumatism or neuralgia would do well to give Ayer's Sarsaparilla a trial. For all such disorders no medicine is so effective as this when faithfully and perservingly used.

HELENA, Oct. 7, 1887.
I was suffering from an unusually bad I was suffering from an unusually bad cough, my lungs were sore and congested, and I consulted one of the best physicians in Helena, whose prescriptions failed to relieve me. I became alarmed, and at the suggestion of a friend purchased a bottle of Acker's English Remedy for coughs, and after taking it according to directions was completely cured. I therefore cheerfuily recommend it.

I had a racking cough and inflamed throat and bought a bottle of Acker's English Remedy upon the recommendation of a friend, and was entirely cured by it. I consider it a never failing remedy for a cough.

James Quinn, 90 Middle st., Hartford, Conn., testifies: "I have used Ayer's Pills for the past thirty years and consider them an invaluable family medicine. I know of no better remedy for liver troubles, and have always found them a prompt cure for dyspepsia." Lucius Alexander, of Marblehead, Mass., was long a severe sufferer from Dyspepsia, complicated with enlargement of the Liver, most of the time being unable to retain any food in his stomach. Three boxes of Ayer's Pills cursal him.

Frederic C. Greener, of East Dedham, Mass., for several months troubled with Indigestion, was cured before he used half a box of these Pills.
